OUR PIONEERS

To understand the unfolding of the principles of historical development one should study the motives behind human action. Geographical conditions and influences, and the many and varied human needs and aspirations, have contributed very largely to the onward movement of civilization.

The history of pioneer life in America is rich in stirring events, in deeds of fortitude and daring, in stories of strong men and women who did a great work—and they toiled not in vain. Self-reliant pioneers, armed with axe and musket, cleared patches of the forests, built cabins, and planted seed for future harvests.

Our pioneers were plain, modest, uncelebrated men of the struggling common people—men who sought no praise and achieved no great fame, who were not conscious of their own greatness; but who were always ready for any service needed to maintain an advancing frontier. And while building homes in the forests, they were not only the advance guard of civilization, but they were raising a framework of self-government destined to play no small part in the history of our nation.

HAUGHT FAMILY GENEALOGY

The family records and history contained in this genealogy are as nearly authentic as public and private records have made them. Where records were unavailable, or incomplete, and personal recollections were lacking, we have had to depend on recorded dates and locations, and the intermarriage of families, to substantiate a few items of this genealogy.

It is the hope of the author of this record that it will be an interesting and valuable history of our family, and a work that will last as long as the name exists.

Respectfully,
W. B. HAUGHT

PREFACE

Monongalia County, West Virginia, may well be called the "Cradle of the Haughts of America." To Statler's Run, in this county, came Peter Haught II, Richard Tennant, whose wife was a sister of Peter Haught II, and Paul Haught, his uncle, to mark their settlement rights in the unbroken forests. Peter Haught and Elizabeth Haught-Tennant each lived on Statler's Run the rest of their lives, and were buried near where they lived. Peter Haught reared a family of five sons and four daughters, and his sister was the mother of thirteen Tennants.

In the same year, 1776, Jonathan Haught made improvements on lands on the waters of Simpson's Creek, and Thomas Haught made improvements on lands on the main fork of Elk Creek.

At that time all of north-western Virginia was designated as the Parish of West Augusta. Monongalia County was erected out of the Parish of West Augusta in December, 1776, and at that time embraced about one-third of what is now West Virginia.

On March 7, 1815, another Peter Haught and Sarah, his wife, purchased 400 acres of land on Sandy Creek, from James Chadwick; and on May 13, 1817, they sold this land to Samuel Acbe, et al. At the time they sold the land they were residents of Harrison County, Virginia. Harrison County having been erected out of a larger part of Monongalia County in 1784.

On August 1, 1816, Jacob Haught purchased 165 acres of land on the Monongahela River.

On December 25, 1817, Nicholas Haught purchased 100 acres of land on Dunkard Creek.

On June 29, 1821, Nicholas Haught purchased 237 acres of land on the waters of Merecoles Run.

On December 27, 1824, Joseph Haught purchased 200 acres of land on the right hand fork of Merecoal Run.

On January 29, 1825, Tobias Haught purchased 50 acres of land on Long Drain.

On May 21, 1827, Jacob Haught purchased 148 acres of land on the headwaters of Statler's Run.

On August 27, 1827, Peter Haught purchased 225 acres of land on the left hand fork of Scott's Run, a branch of the left hand fork of Meracle Run.

On February 19, 1832, Tobias Haught purchased 200 acres of land on Days Run.

On June 12, 1834, Evan Haught purchased 112 acres of land on Meracle Run.

On September 29, 1835, Peter Haught purchased 75 acres of land on the head of the left hand fork of Gravel Run, a branch of Jacob Statler's Run.

On October 1, 1835, Tobias Haught purchased 230 acres of land on the middle fork of Dunkard Creek.

On May 23, 1836, Joseph Haught purchased 100 acres of land on Lost Lick Run, which is a branch of Meracle Run.

On September 28, 1837, Peter B. Haught purchased 117 acres of land on Statler's Run.

On October 23, 1837, Tobias Haught III purchased 100 acres of land on the head of Statler's Run and Robinson's Run, to include the low gap where the road crosses.

On March 9, 1838, Jacob Haught purchased 58 acres of land on Statler's Run.

From these early settlers, and others whose records of land holding we do not find, have descended, so far as we know at this time, all the Haughts of America.

PETER HAUGHT

Peter Haught I, was born at Rotterdam .Holland, in 1720. He married there about 1747, and sailed from there for America on the Ship Patience, whose captain was Hugh Steele. He landed at Philadelphia on September 9, 1751, with his wife and daughter Elizabeth.

In I. Daniel Rupp's list of German accent passengers there is this record: "September 9, 1751. Ship Patience, captain Hugh Steele, from Rotterdam, last from Cowes. Two hundred fifty-five passengers, eight Roman Catholics." The list of passengers includes the name of PETER HAUT.

Peter Haught settled near the present town of Moorefield, in what is now Hardy County, West Virginia, at some time prior to 1755.

At that time Lord Fairfax held land grants from the King of England which covered several thousand acres on the south of the Potomac River. When settlers began to locate in that section of Virginia, Lord Fairfax had his lands surveyed by George Washington, in 1747 and 1748, and laid out in quantities to suit the settlers. Yet his plan was not to sell, but rent on a very liberal basis, thus assuring himself of a definite income. He gave ninety-nine year leases at a rental of $3.33 per year for each one hundred acres.

During the Revolutionary War the Commonwealth of Virginia enacted laws against estates entail, which abolished the system of perpetual rents; and at the close of the Revolution, all the Fairfax lands were confiscated by Virginia. The Fairfax land included most of the South Branch valley. It was in this valley that Peter Haught, and doubtless his three, or more, brothers had settled, at least twenty years before the Revolutionary War. When Virginia took over the lands, any settler who did not have a title bond, or other evidence of ownership, was regarded as a "squatter," and his claim for land was not recognized. This may be the reason why no evidence of property rights in the name of Peter Haught have been found of record.

Peter Haught II, son of Peter Haught I, was born in the South Branch valley on July 1, 1755.

Richard Tennant came to America about 1760, and on the ship with him was Rosanna Mouse. Each had pledged years of service to the ship owner, or the ship's captain, to pay their passage to the colonies. Peter Haught purchased seven years of service of each of them, and they went to his settlement to work out their pledges. Richard Tennant later became the son-in-law of Peter Haught by marrying his daughter Elizabeth.

Peter Haught I, continued his residence in the South Branch valley, so far as we know, until the time of his death. There is a tradition that he lived during his later years in Pennsylvania, but up to 1790, the time of the birth of his youngest son, by a second wife, he was a resident of Virginia. The War Department gives us this data from the record of Joseph Haught's service in the War of 1812.

Peter Haught II

Peter Haught II, was a private in Captain James Parsons' Company, of Lord Dunmore's army, in 1774, along with his two uncles, Henry Haught and Tobias Haught, and his brother-in-law, Richard Tennant. This army marched through the northern part of Virginia, with the intention of joining with General Andrew Lewis and his army that had moved westward through the central part of Virginia. General Lewis and his army met and defeated the Indians at Point Pleasant before the northern army could reach them.

Peter Haught II, also served as Indian Spy under Captain Michael Catt, in General McIntosh's Campaign, during the Revolutionary War. He also served under Captains John Minor and James Daugherty in the Virginia troops. He was allowed a pension for his military service; and in 1855 bounty land of 160 acres was given to his minor children, Frances and John Haught.

Peter Haught II made improvements on lands on the headwaters of Statler's Run, in 1776, and was granted a certificate for 400 acres.

He married Christenia Yeager in 1777, and settled on his grant of land, near the settlement of his brother-in-law, Richard Tennant.

TOBIAS HAUGHT

Tobias Haught, brother of Peter Haught I, came to America, and evidently to the settlement of his brother in the South Branch valley, as he was in James Parsons' Company of Lord Dunmore's army, along with his brother Henry Haught, and his nephew, Peter Haught II, in 1774. He never married, but lived with his nephew, Peter Haught II, on Statler's Run.

About 1783, while riding along Statler's Run, he was ambushed by Indians, and shot and scalped. The Indians took his horse and retreated toward the Ohio River. He was found by his friends before he died, and he told them of the ambush and the taking of his horse. He had a prized Powder-horn, carved in German characters, which is still in possession of some of the descendants of Tobias Haught, son of Peter Haught II.

HENRY HAUGHT

Henry Haught, a brother of Peter Haught I, came to America and evidently to the settlement of his brother in the South Branch Valley, as he was in James Parsons' Company of Lord Dunmore's army, with his brother Tobias Haught, and his nephew, Peter Haught II, in 1774.

It is not known where he located, nor who he married, but three of his sons were soldiers in the War of 1812, from Monongalia County. John Haught was in Captain Samuel Kennedy's company, and Nicholas Haught and Peter Haught were in Captain Jesse Ice's Company.

Peter Haught died at Fort Meigs on February 23, 1813. Evidence indicates that he married before going into service, and that his widow, Ann Elizabeth Haught, married Joseph Haught on February 19, 1815.

Paul Haught

Paul Haught, another brother of Peter Haught I, came to Statler's Run in 1776, and marked a settlement right on a tract of land, near the locations of his nephew, Peter Haught II, and Richard Tennant. We have no evidence of his return to this settlement right, but two of his sons, John Haught and Jacob Haught, came and claimed the land as heirs of Paul Haught, and had it surveyed on April 6, 1785. Their patent on this tract of 324 acres of land is dated October 25, 1792. On April 4, 1800, they sold 169 acres of the tract to Peter Tennant; and on October 8, 1804, they sold the remaining 155 acres to Samuel Varner. John Haught and Catherine Haught, his wife, acknowledged the deed in Monongalia County; and Jacob Haught and Magdaline Haught, his wife, acknowledged in Fayette County, Pennsylvania.

John Haught lived in Monongalia County for a few years, owning land on Days Run, and on Dunkard Creek, near Blacksville. His deed for the Dunkard Creek land, to John Johnson, is dated on August 2, 1806. He removed to Fayette County, Pennsylvania.

Amos Haught was assistant to Samuel Hanway, Surveyor of Monongalia County, and made two surveys of farm lands in November, 1783. From all available evidence he was another son of Paul Haught.

~~Peter~~ Haught, who purchased land on Sandy Creek on March 7, 1815, must have been another son of Paul Haught, as both Peter Haught I and Henry, his brother, had sons whom they named Peter.

Peter B. Haught

Peter B. Haught, who was evidently a descendant of Paul Haught, came into Monongalia County, Virginia, from Fayette County, Pennsylvania, and purchased a farm of 117 acres of land, on Statler's Run, on September 28, 1837. In 1845 he sold this tract of land, and lived in Greene County, Pennsylvania, for a short time; later locating in Ritchie County, West Virginia, where many of his descendants still live.

George Haught

George Haught, who was evidently a descendant to Paul Haught, was a resident of Fayette County, Pennsylvania, where he married Elizabeth Dixon. Their son, David Haught, was born in Fayette County on July 22, 1826. He married Rachel Provance on October 23, 1845, and their first child was born in Monongalia County, West Virginia, on September 16, 1846. They returned to Fayette County and lived there until some time after 1850, when they moved to Bureau County, Illinois. About 1865 they removed to Atchinson County, Missouri, and later located in Nebraska.

Jonathan Haught and Thomas Haught

On April 6, 1781, the Commissioners for adjusting claims to unpatented lands in the counties of Monongalia, Youghiougheny and Ohio, granted a certificate for 400 acres of land on Simpson's Creek to Bonar Haught, as an heir of Jonathan Haught.

On April 18, 1781, the Commissioners granted a certificate for 400 acres of land on the main fork of Elk Creek, to Thomas Haught. Prior to the claims of many settlers was the "tomahawk right" of hunters who had found attractive sites and good springs of water, and had deadened trees, and cut their names on trees, to establish their claim to the lands.

While Commissioners were appointed to adjust claims, many hunters took their claims to Richmond and received patent rights. Many settlers who had cleared lands and built cabins later found that their claims were covered by prior rights, and they had to either buy the prior rights, or move elsewhere. This may account for the fact that no land titles have been found for lands in the names of Bonar and Thomas Haught, beyond the certificates of the Commissioners.

We have not found any record of descendants of these Haughts.

Our efforts to make this genealogy a complete history of our family have met with more or less of indifference and disappointment, in a few instances, and with much real pleasure and satisfaction in many instances; and the result, while it could not be everything we hoped for, will be of great value to us now, and to succeeding generations.

Much of this record is a voice from the past speaking to us over two centuries of life in America. The conquest and subjugation of the primeval forests of Virginia west of the mountains was a life filled with thrilling incidents and daring endeavors. Yet the social and intellectual life of our pioneers compares favorably with ours of today. It is certain that we, with the same environment, would act, speak and believe as they did.

We can only guess the thoughts of a lone pioneer woodsman as he swung his axe into the edge of a measureless forest. We can only conjecture the aspirations of the pioneer wife and mother who made a home out of a rude cabin on the edge of a clearing. But these experiences of our ancestors are with us as the beacon lights that guide our feet in every forward step.
